6th Grade Back-to-School Note August 24, 2018

What an incredible week! The new sixth grade students are working on learning about procedures and routines in their new classroom and are doing an awesome job. They each chose a 7th grade student to be their mentor and help with this process. This week we had lessons on running the store, spelling and vocabulary, editing, divisibility rules, writing a biographical poem, and using a writer's notebook. We discussed goals for the first work cycle and the students came up with individual academic and personal goals that they would like to work on. They had the opportunity to share some projects that they created after reading the book, Island of the Blue Dolphins. Part of our orientation includes cooperative activities that help to build a strong classroom community. One of the big highlights of this is a trip to the Ropes course which will take place next week.

Important dates: Aug. 28th -29th Ropes Course
