Lessons This Week

This week the students read the story Raymond's Run, from the Junior Great Book collection. The main character, Squeaky, has a special talent for running, and often wins the races. She uses her gift to coach and encourage her mentally challenged brother to run. Students discussed their talents that make them unique and ways they can use their talents to help others.

The students began making their Archimedean solid shapes this week. Students had to make templates of the face shapes for their polyhedra, lay them out onto large pieces of cardboard and draw the net. Then they carefully cut out their shapes and started gluing them together.
