"Education is a work of self-organization by which man adapts himself to the conditions of life."
Maria Montessori

E2 Classroom Activities: Just like Igor's hump, this hump day turned out to be creepy and mysterious. Halloween was a fun way to break up the week of regular schoolwork. It was refreshing to have a day together doing fun activities and this sort of bonding really brings our classroom community together. They all had such an exciting time showing each other their creative costumes. We had everything from 4 grim reapers to a minion and even an angel. We transformed a corner of the classroom into a haunted library for a ghastly photo op which the kids loved. As always the Halloween parade lead us through the entire school with the finale on the soccer field. In the classroom we had a number of craft activities and word searches for them to explore. Outside we had parents who organized a skeleton arm relay and cemetery ring toss games. The luncheon was so scrumptious, special, and satisfying. Later in the day we had an opportunity to experience the Level 3 haunted house. We are always amazed (and a little frightened) with the wonderfully weird and spine-chilling creation that the middle school students put together. We also watched some Ted-Ed videos about such subjects as, Are vampires real? and Where to go in a Zombie Apocalypse. After a dance party we ended the day with a little recess before dismissal. All in all it was a spooktacular day!

Thank You!

Thank you to Wayne Leiser, Brandy and Denny Albert, Carrie Price, Kerrie Pupprecht, and Crystal Burhart, for volunteering to help set up and serving the Halloween luncheon. We are grateful to Brandy and Denny Albert for arranging some outdoor games for the students to play. Thank you to Louis Najmy for providing delicious fried chicken. Thank you to Michelle Howell for bringing a lovely green salad, the Rupprechts for providing a tasty fruit salad, and the Alberts for providing amazing fresh bread. We are grateful for Meghan Miller's brownies, Rachel Spragues googly eyed treats, The Zinkhan's marshmallow pumpkins, The Vasquez's cupcakes, and the Rupprechts's ghostly lollipops and pencils. Thanks also go out to the 5th graders for helping with the fun house. Thank you all for a fabulous day of fun!
