

6th Grade News

January 15, 2021

We started our third work cycle this week. The students have started reading a new novel, Iqbal. It is a true story about a boy's experience as a modern day slave in the carpet industry. The students are continuing to build polyhedral models. This week began our lesson on bridges in preparation for the toothpick bridge competition. Students learned about tension, compression, and the effects of gravity on bridges. They also learned about different styles of bridges.
